To Whom it may concern,

System Information Technology were one of a number of companies invited to tender for the installation of a new computer suite in Spring 2006. Their quote was detailed and competitive. System IT were represented at all the planning meetings and worked well with the other contractors involved in the project.

Their commitment to the success of the project and post installation support has been invaluable.

The computer suite has far exceeded our expectations and I am very impressed with the commitment and work ethic of the people involved in helping the school bring an idea on paper to fruition in such a short space of time.

Systems IT continue to show great professionalism and flexibility in meeting our sometimes complex and demanding requests whilst also being extremely helpful and patient. As a result of this developing relationship we have recently committed to an annual maintenance contract with them.
